

Collaborative Inventory Management

The Vendor Managed Inventory (VMI) Module in OMS offers a streamlined approach to inventory management and order fulfillment that links a supplier directly to a buyer's demand. This allows vendors to generate replenishment orders on the buyer's behalf based on demand data.

Benefits of VMI

VMI is good for business. On average, after their first year using VMI programs, participating companies saw:

- Extends visibility into demand projections to both buyers and suppliers, giving vendors greater ability to forecast their own demand and sales.
- Reduces time spent creating orders while maintaining buyers' ability to review and approve POs.
